COMMUNICATIONS ACT OF 1934

Daily Log - 3 December 1951 (Monday)

25X1A

[REDACTED] Deputy Assistant Director, Office of Communications, called to ask if we could help with the problem of reciprocal rights for communication operations in other countries with the United States. He said the Communications Act of 1934 had been consistently interpreted as forbidding such reciprocal rights, but his office and State Department Communications wish to institute a new policy granting rights under certain circumstances. [REDACTED] asked our opinion whether establishment of a new policy would be a matter of interpretation of the old Act or of new legislation.

25X1A
